

Crimper's Climbing Gym TF Sponsor Special Event Thank You Letter (10-6-12)

To whom it may concern,

We own Crimper's Climbing Gym and we recently had our "Unhinged" event which featured pro-climber Timy Fairfield. "Unhinged" was our first event and it needed to be extraordinary.

Timy Fairfield and his company Futurist Climbing Consultants were intrinsic to the development of our gym. When he agreed to be the featured climber of "Unhinged" we were ecstatic.

We have seen Timy climb both in videos and in person throughout the years. He is electric with raw athleticism. He knows how to perform and engage the audience – he was flying on our Wave Wall doing a "Mission Impossible" move followed by a figure four and finally ending upside down. He wowed! His combination of being a vibrant and fantastic climber and an eloquent and intelligent speaker draws the crowd to him. He knows how to represent!

We thank you for sponsoring Timy and for providing amazing products and gifts for our raffle. The climbers were blown away with the raffle prizes. Timy also acknowledged our staff, Team Crimper's, which was insightful and thoughtful. We love seeing our team members walk around proudly with their schwag.

By representing your company through captivating climbers like Timy, you are helping to validate our sport. The more quality sponsors in climbing puts our sport out there for everyone to see how awesome and brilliant it is.

We are a smaller gym, but we pack a big punch. Climbing is our life and you have made our first event truly UNHINGED!

Sincerely,

Danielle Goodspeed & John Johnson
